Negatives of 101:
Anderson Windows –
 - (1) How do you find lab for this?
 - (2) How does one decide which ASTM test is applicable to sample?
Comment: It is recommended that a table be put in the procedures to assist the manufacturer in deciding which test is applicable
Comment is persuasive; however, motion is tabled for the time being.
 - (3) If more than one test is applicable for a specific material, will the results be equivalent or will they be different? This is a question, not a negative
Response: Should be the same – usually test lab makes the decision as to which test is more appropriate.
